

A close-up photograph of an orange-painted metal surface. Two black pipes are visible: one runs diagonally from the bottom left towards the center, and the other crosses it from the top left towards the right. A metal blade with a serrated edge is positioned diagonally from the bottom right towards the center. In the upper center, there is a small circular hole with a hexagonal nut. The number '2103689' is stamped into the metal plate in the center. A small, faint logo is visible below the number.
